Split Season Killed.

President O'Rourke has decided that the failure of the New England league to adopt the spiil season schedule may make it impossible for the Eastern association to favor it. He wrote to President Murnane of the New Eng-land exemit necessary to the meeting and circuit previous to the meeting of that circuit and informed Tim that the Eastern was considering the split season project. The New Emglanders did not appear to like this idea, which many baseball men regard is a pro-

In case the Eastern should adopt the split senson it would make compilcations regarding the post season series with the New England pennant winner. The two leagues close their senson on the same day and are then supposed, according to their signed agreement, to start their series between the flag winners, the senson that the series between the flag winners, the senson the flag winners, the senson the same that series in the Bark Inches the Black Champion at Tampico.

Jack Curley, promoter of the Jack Johnson would be at El Paso in ample time to meet Willard. In case the Eastern should adopt in case two different clubs finished first in each heat, to have a series between the winners to decide the league title. This would make the season a week or ten days longer than the New England.

Jimmy Power Forced to Quit. Boston, Feb. 8.—Jimmy Power, the Boston Athletic association running star, will not do any more indoor racing this season. He is sick with pleurisy and his physician has ordered him to remain in bed for some time. The B. > BOTH FIGHTERS READY. Joe Shugrue Meets Champion Welsh at Madison Square Garden Tonight.

There is a general interest among boxing devotees in the bout at Madison Square Carden tonight, which will bring together Freddie Weish, the lightweight champion of the world, and Joe Shugrue, who stands at the fore-front of the aspirants for the title. This will be the second meeting of the two will be the second meeting of the two men in the ring and should prove an even greater attraction than their first battle in the Garden. That proved to be a victory on points for the Jersey boxer and Welsh showed in form that was far from what should have marked the work of a champion, in a certain sense, however, the match was unsatis factory.

In a bout several days before the event with Shugrue, Welsh was reported as having hurt his right hand and the certainty of this seemed to be borne out when he boxed Shugrue. He borne out when he boxed Shugrue. He self his right idle for most of the time, and when be did land with it did not appear to put much force behind the thrust. There was no question that Shugrue outboxed the champlon and that he showed an ability that was in part unexpected. The fact of the injury to Welsh, however, left a doubt in the minds of the big gathering in the Garden as to which one was really the better if both were in the pink of condition.

The feature photoplay was The Hear of Magdaien in two reels with Edia Maison. The others were Sissy Dobbins. Oil Magnate and a comedy film, the Rural Demons, featuring on the Shore Line, and only one west bound.

One relief that the railroad may grant to eastern Connecticut people is to have the train leaving Saybrook at the injury to Welsh, however, left a doubt in the minds of the big gathering in the Garden as to which one was really the better if both were in the pink of condition.

There is every indication that that

Inter they have been training hard and are in the best of condition to put up a fast encounter. There is one point that must be remembered, and that is that Shugrue is a boxer who is improving with every battle and that welsh has reached the top of his form. Hence Shugrue will be a harder man for the Britain to beat than was the case in the Garden bout. For all that, welsh will be in condition to give him a hard battle, and if anything he still has a shade on the boxing technique. of the town of Norwich for the month has a shade on the boxing technique. Shugrue may be confident in the knowledge of his past victory, and no doubt it will stand him in well; but if he goes into the ring with the idea that he understands Weish's style of poxing he may be a greatly surprised boy. Welsh is a versatile boxer, as has been evidenced on many occasions. He never boxes a man twice in the same way, and the generalship which he may employ tonight may be some-thing that will cause bewilderment to the match from the first round. He will probably employ the same tactics in this second encounter. He has an eve on the lightweight championship and knows that for the present his only way of winning it is to put Weish our within the ten round limit. That will a determined entors for the gain linear-ures far more than he can possibly lose. Step Taken in Right Direction. Of chief interest to the public i connection with the armual meeting of the football rules committee was the fact that the committee went on record as favoring the numbering of players. It recommended that all players should be numbered, but this players should be numbered, but this was not made mandatory. However, it shows that the solons of the autumnal sport realize that the spectators are a big part of football and that their interests should be looked after as well as those of the players.

Whether the colleges and universities which have heretofore turned a deaf ear toward the importunities of their football cohorts, will send their ways and improve the game and help Greeneville. deaf ear toward the importunities of their football cohorts, will send their ways and improve the game and help ways and improve the game and help in the work of increasing interest in football is something that the future alone can decide. There is no way that the football rules committee could enforce such a rule, but the fact that it has recommended it is expected to carry a great deal of weight.
